India is passing through a phase of unprecedented demographic changes. These demographic changes are likely to contribute to a substantially increased workforce in the country, making India one of the youngest nations in the world. It will benefit India if her population is healthy, educated and appropriately skilled.

EDUCATION WITHOUT BORDERS®
Due to skills shortages within a number of ASEAN countries, borders are dissolving to allow for a more mobile workforce. This results in a need to recognise each other’s training and education. AAMC Training has a focus on the New World by assisting with workforce development.

In collaboration with employers we are designing applicable education pathways, enriched with employability skills to meet each emerging nation’s skills shortage needs.

A better-trained and skilled workforce is a prerequisite for meeting the labor supply requirements of sustained higher growth.

AAMC Training works with individuals and organizations in conducting Training Need Analysis to identify training / skill gaps and in developing customized solutions using (in many cases) Australian Standard units of competencies and assessments, coupled with using skilled trainers and assessors.

AAMC Training also conducts high impact, cost-effective espresso sessions for the executives, specialized courses for housewives to develop their English communication skills, and Finishing School / Vocational Readiness Programs for students.
